Three Generations Prepare for Christmas Craft Fair

Linda Ellis, Merci Chartrand, and Jacklyn Chartrand represent three generations setting-up for the annual Christmas Craft Fair in the Family Life Center December 4.

Hundreds of hours go into preparation for the ICCCW craft fair—making and jarring soup and chili, baking wonderful breads and desserts, and creating crafts, then setting up the booths for vendors—to make it the premier Christmas craft fair in Clarksville.

When the big day comes, the work is just beginning. Gene Costello and Maggie Kulback lead the kitchen squad in serving first coffee and sausage biscuits for the vendors and the early crowd, then many bowls of soup and chili, hot dogs, caramel apple wedges, hot chocolate, and soft drinks to the lunch crowd. Alice Cochran is kept busy all day making funnel cakes—everyone's favorite.

Ann Doherty and her country store crew don't have time to rest as people line up to buy the breads, cakes, and other special Christmas goodies.

Be sure to put the Craft Fair on your calendar for next year—Dec. 3, the first Saturday in December.
